EIGHTH ANNUAL FLORIDA STATE INTERSCHOLASTIC SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS NUMBER

Carrothers Doubts So Gives Int. Tests

Monday morning in the study hall of the Winter Park High School Dean Carrothers gave about a hundred of the Rollins students who were interested in such matters a sample of the intelligence tests which students desiring to enter here next year will have to pass. It is alleged that the Dean had a further reason in giving these tests, that he was harboring some doubts fostered by malicious aspersions against the present mentality of the Rollins students.

All of those who took the tests being hardened college students

Theta Kappa Nu Honors Kappa Phi Sigma

Thursday evening of last week the members of the new fraternity, Kappa Phi Sigma, were the guests of the Theta Kappa Nu men, at the latter's regular fortnightly discussion meeting. The group met with, and at the home of Professor Campbell, faculty advisor of the new organization. Nearly all the members of each fraternity were present at this, the first official act of welcome given the Kappa Phi Sigmas.

Mr. Couch, head of the Theta Nus, gave a short talk, outlining the need for a new fraternity and welcoming the Kappa Phi Sigmas to the campus. Mr. Lehman expressed the appreciation of his organization for the welcome and assurance of goodwill and co-operation on the part of the older fraternity.

In addition the question of the proper and probable fate of the evolution bill now before the state legislature was discussed. Religion and its relation to the epidemic of student suicides came up for con-

Alpha Omegas Give Dance As Year's Event

The Alpha Omega sorority entertained with a dance Friday evening at the Dubsdread Country Club. The Club house was effectively decorated in scarlet and olive, the colors of the sorority. At a late hour a delicious buffet supper was served. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fredericks, Mrs. Donald Mitchenor, Miss Hannah Gartland, Archon Claude Couch, Paul Hilliard, Leonard Seaver, Edward Schurmann, Carl Warner, Bob Cross, Edward Eichstaedt, Ewing Starnes, David Schnuck, Harold Powers, John Lindenfeldt, Dana Kingsberry, Frank Abbot, Robert Burhans Charles Zehler, Red Windleweedle, Norton Gilbert, John Smith, Joe Jones, Ralph Marlowe.

Music was furnished by the Mt. Plymouth Orchestra.

ROLLINS SCENE OF WATERY CONFLICTS HIGH SCHOOLS COMPETE FOR KART TROPHIES

Pathe Man to Shoot Swimmers and Rollins

K. W. Fasold, Pathe News representative, has telegraphed Ray Greene, director of the Eighth Annual Florida State Interscholastic Swimming Championships which are to be held at Rollins College next Saturday, that he would arrive early Saturday morning to film the swimming event. Mr. Fasold has been assigned to cover the Meet by Ray Hall, Editor of Pathe Exchange, Inc., New York City.

The filming of this event will bring pictures of these Florida High School Swimmers at Rollins College before more than twenty millions of people. Grown as it has since its beginning seven years ago the Aquatic Meet has become prominent enough to warrant filming by Pathe News.

As an appreciation to Pathe News for this consideration, Col. Franklin O. King, Chairman of the Governing Committee for the Championships announced last evening that exclusive film rights for the event had been given to Pathe News.

R. L. S. Members Live Up To Ideal and Name

For some time now, in fact, ever since the club was formed, quite a bit of interest has been shown in the R. L. S. Questions have been flying around as to what it is and what it means to the campus. The members are trying to live up to the initials that they have chosen as a name and so far, have succeeded.

Mrs. Harris went to one of the meetings and talked to the club very informally about the Modern American Short Story and some of its best

Little Theatre Prize Plays Tuesday Night

"The play's the thing" said Hamlet and he said a mouthful. Believe it or not, it's true. Now folks, there's going to be another of these "shindigs" put on by the "Little Theatre Workshop" at the Women's Club on May 3. The bill has been made up by these honorable judges who have announced their decisions at each program which has been given this year. Those plays "copped" first place at each program will compete for the Sigma Phi prize. Each cast is after the "berries" so the show ought to be worth seeing.

Dr. Holt Is Pleased With New Campus Club

An International Relations Club has been organized on the Rollins campus. It comes into existence to promote a more intelligent understanding of the problems of international relations. There are 107 International Clubs in the colleges and universities of the United States and Dr. Holt expresses his pleasure in seeing such an organization on the Rollins campus. Professor Leland Jenks, of the History Department, has been appointed Faculty adviser.

Phi Alphas Receive Gift For House Fund

A second gift of $5,000 has been added to the funds of the Phi Alpha Fraternity, according to an announcement made by A. J. Hanna, President of the Board of Directors. This new gift comes from Mrs. Richard M. Genius, daughter of the late Charles H. Morse, one of the founders of Winter Park and generous donor to the college.

This new gift of $5,000 together with the one for a similar amount recently made by H. H. Westinghouse, brings the total of conditional gifts to $10,000. Over $3,000 in smaller amounts have been raised and the boys are hoping to raise a total of $15,000 by May 1.

INSANITY THREATENED POPULAR SONG CAUSE

Special to the SANDSPUR.—Two girls in Cloverleaf express fear of becoming insane as they hear for the 37th time in one afternoon, "Lay Your Head Beneath a Rose." It is rumored that a report may be made to the Mayor of Winter Park asking that an ordinance be passed that a muffler be used when this is played. All wishing to sign a petition to help the girls, see them.

PUBLIC FORUM

The SANDPUR claims to be the organ of the student body. Heaven knows we of the staff don't consider getting it ready for the printer is the ideal way to spend idle hours. And so as a further incentive to making the students co-operate with us we have a Public Forum. Unfortunately it is not used very often. But this week one of the Rollins Students seems to have had a severe case of compound ill temper, indigestion and childishness. Will you just look at the dreadful, dreadful "Anonymous Letter" he, or she, has handed in to us? We beg of you not to take it too seriously. The author will undoubtedly recover and repent but in the meantime we can all have a good time with it. Madame Bowman would make a pretty gesture and say "C'est a rire." And we can do the same. The only thing that has us worried is the signature. "Sinclair Lewis II"! Supposing our many subscribers up in Boston get ahold of this issue and see that name. Our reputation, whatever it may be, will be lost forever.

Editor Sandspur:

If a certain member of the faculty would not contradict himself so often he would not only be more popular with the students but also we would know where we stand. This is the statement which has been made not by one student alone but by many. How can anyone know what he means if he says a thing one day, contradicts himself the next and goes back to the first statement the next? According to many this is the state of affairs. Whether he or the students or both are to blame, there is a noticeable antagonism in the air.

On the other hand, what is the matter with the students at Rollins? Are they dumb, half-witted morons or are they merely, shall we say, indifferent pleasure-seekers? Why is it that we have to pay four dollars (out of the Student Association fee) plus three dollars (for pictures) plus five dollars (a total of twelve dollars) for the year-book? This minimum total is increased if one belongs to an organization having a page in said year-book. Why are we not told where all this money is going to? It is probably because most students here don't give a hoot where, how, or why anything happens. Why doesn't the student-body raise a few questions and have them answered? We are told the Tomokan is to cost so much but are we given an itemized list of expenses so that we may see why? Why not? There isn't a man in this whole college who dares to get up in student-assembly and say what he thinks. WHY?

Why is it that one man is Editor-in-Chief of the three publications on the campus when one of them requires all the time a man can spare? No doubt there is a reason for it, but where? Is it that there is only one man on the campus who is capable of heading our publications? If such is the case, what a sweet bunch of dum-heads we are!!

"This bunch of students is the most unsportsmanlike group of students I have ever seen," says one student. Isn't he about right? Is there anyone in this school who has any respect for the Alma Mater, even enough to stand up when it is played? How many know it? How many pianists can play it. How many resent a slur cast against our school?

Complaints are being heard about the SANDSPUR. "It's terrible! Worse than none!" Why? Do these chronic kickers ever do anything to better it, or do they sit back in smug complacency and yell about it? Can anyone put out a college paper if he has to get down on his knees and, with tears in his eyes, beg someone to write up an article? Again, if they don't like the paper, why not write the editor about it? How will he know the student opinion if no one says a word? Why do we only have a four-page paper? Surely this college needs a larger one than that. Isn't it about time we found out where the blame lies, that we probed the matter to the depths? Or, are we a group of puling idiots, fed on sop?

This student body is about as far from co-operation as human beings can be. There is an unseen antagonism not only between the faculty and the students, but also among the student organizations. There isn't a member of a fraternity or sorority on the campus who does not consider his fraternity before he considers the welfare of the college. There is a feeling of suppressed animosity which reminds one of a bunch of pups growling over a bone. One is inclined to think that we have here a bunch of dumb eggs who have no thought in life but how much they can get away with.

If I am not greatly mistaken we have a Student Association. Is it doing anything or are the officers merely smirking yes-men? Are they working for the interests of the students and, if so, have the students any interests which these officers can work for?

These, Mr. Editor, are only a few of the questions I would like to have answered by those who do or ought to know. Why not lay all the cards on the table?

Pete Desjardins, Miami High School Aquatic Star, who is visiting Rollins College as a spectator of the Eighth Annual Florida State Interscholastic Aquatic Championships. He comes to Rollins this year also as Manager for the strong Miami High School Team of which he was a member four years. Pete would be in the mix-up again this year but for the four-year participation rule of the Florida High School Athletic Association.

Pete Desjardins will soon be as well known as Jean Val Jean. In the sport world he is admired by thousands for his diving ability. As a member of the American Olympic Team in 1924 at Paris, he took second place in that world championship contest. On his return to America he defeated the world champion in the national diving championships and recently at Chicago, again won the national diving championships.

Pete says, "The National Championships and the Olympic games are great but give me the Interscholastic Championships at Rollins."

PHI OMEGA PHACTS

Phi Omega Sorority wishes to announce as pledges Miss Helen Morrow and Miss Martha Schanck.

Thursday night we all went exploring with Captain Kidd,—but can anyone tell us,—where were our flowers when the lights went out?

Draa and Little Draa had callers over Sunday,—AGAIN.

Lu, Dot, Estelle, Helen, Grace, Freda, Bee, Boots, and Chrysie impersonated the Babes in the Wood out at Mrs. Newby's camp over the week-end. After being lost three hours, stuck in the sand, dumped in the ditch, etcetera, Chrysie decided that the party was getting too collegiate, and thereafter refused to go without forcible persuasion. The joy of meeting Lou was only exceeded by seeing Ikie. After two grand days of eating, sleeping, (?) swimming, hiking, black-berrying, and playing Michigan, the homeward way was wended, literally, in time for 8:15 classes Monday morning. Wish we could hear that remark again: "Remember you're out camping. You're not in a hotel!"

P. S. We want you all to meet Sparky and Pat!

ROLLINS DEBATES SOUTHERN TONIGHT

The work of the advanced public speaking class has developed to the point where Rollins is able to take part in an intercollegiate debate with Southern. This is the first debate Rollins has ever had with Southern College and the first of any kind for three years. The question for debate is: Resolved, that the United States should agree to a cancellation of the foreign war debts. The students representing Rollins in the debate at Southern are Ed. Shuman, Joe Jones and Ward Mould. The debate will start at 8:15 Friday the 29th. The Rollins team will be the guest of the Alpha Phi Epsilon, a national forensic fraternity while in Southern. There may be a return debate sometime in May.

THE TALE OF THE TO-AD

There once was a co-ed
Who met with a to-ad,
He gave the sweet co-ed a scare.
She cried in alarm: "Just look at my arm,
You can see where he bit me right there."

She doctored her bi-ite
Both morning and ni-ight,
With tooth-paste and strong listerine.
But from all re-po-orts
He left a few wa-arts,
The worst that I ever have seen.

Moral:

And now have a ca-are,
When walking be-wa-are,
Alone, or with co-eds so sweet,
Wherever you tro-od
On sidewalk or so-od,
A to-ad you might chance to meet.

Oft in the stilly night,
Ere the stroke of ten had found them,
Fond couples used to dodge the light
That offered to surrounded them.
The whispered words,
The soft caress,
The awful lines' then spoken,
The girl thought
(And well she ought)
That she was his only token.

Thus, in the chilly night
Ere the stroke of ten had called them,
He'd spill his 'dears'
Into her ear
And she, the nut, believed them.

A NOVEL ON THE COLLEGE

Not long ago Percy Marks, noted author of the present age, compiled his answer to the somewhat raucous words of the novel "The Goose Step" by Upton Sinclair. This group of ideas on the present day institutions of higher-learning made its appearance under the title of "Which Way Parnassus?"

In Mr. Marks exact words, "The Goose Step so carefully and obviously avoided the virtues of the colleges and shrieked the catalogue of faults so raucously that the faults, lacking any contrasting virtues to give them reality, simply inflated themselves into grotesque exaggerations, gargoyles that were more amusing than awesome."

Contrary to the opinions of today with many Mr. Marks does boost the colleges of America. His book covers every phase of school activities from the freshman class to the alumni. From the groundkeeper to the board of directors and the best part is that he gives his unbiased opinions on every topic and points out the apparently obvious faults of all. He is not receptive to the comments of listeners and is endeavoring to place before the public, and especially the younger generation a truthful and clear conception of the universities.

Mr. Marks is a loyal past student of the University of California and also taught four years at Mass. Tech. and is quite capable to lead us all on a comparatively new path through education.

His book is not an adventure, unless it is through the four years of college life. It is neither a romance though it provides a great stimulus to any lover of his Alma Mater. But "Which Way Parnassus" to the reader presents one outstanding characteristic. The truthfulness of the material presented and the great education which can be digested from every page and line. This collection of material of present day educational needs should hold an important place on the bookshelves of every student at Rollins.

EDWARD SCHURMAN.

HARVARD BATTLE ENDS WITH "NO KIDNAPPING!"

Though the recent Massachusetts Institute of Technology student "riot" and the now famous "Battle of Harvard Square" in which Harvard students participated, still rankle in the minds of college authorities hereabouts, a bright spot appears in the gloom.

Northeastern University has put the ban on kidnapping of rival classmen in the annual spring rush this year. It might be more correctly stated to give credit where it belongs, that the ban was put on by the student council and the student council of course means the students.

The Club will hold its first formal session at the home of Dr. Holt on May 3. Dr. Holt will talk to the club about the League and the World Court.

The club is not encumbered with many officers and the meetings will be conducted with as little formality as possible. Each member of the club will serve his turn as chairman, and Eleanor Blish will act as secretary and librarian. The meeting on May 3 will be under the chairmanship of Mr. Alfred Brunk.

thought it great fun and said that they experienced no difficulty. But there have been rumors from those that are doing the grading that soon there will be a different story to tell. Our matinee idol, Frank Abbott, will strut his stuff in "The Bear." How that boy can yell when he gets going!

The dashing Straforal, commonly known on the campus as Joe Jones, will again perform his most exquisite and gorgeous abduction in "The Romancers." Now, honestly girls, wouldn't you just love to be carried off by this unexcelled abductor? Why, why, why, why, yes! The next catastrophe on the bill is "YYYY."

Here we have Baby-Face at his best, the sassy little brat who really loves his sisters.

Last of all, boys, comes the darling of the School of Golden Personalities, Anna Belle, in "Op-o'-me-Thumb." Ain't she cute with those pigtails? We'll spill the beans if she isn't.

So, friends and otherwise, we humbly present this galaxy of Rollins favorites in the hits of 1926-7 at the small sum of 25 coppers. No plugged nickels taken at the door.

The fact that Professor Grover's room is available for Club meetings is a great advantage to the R. L. S.
